

Risky Choices Risky Behaviours

Providence Health Care Ethics Conference

Friday, April 23, 2010
9:00 am to 4:30 pm

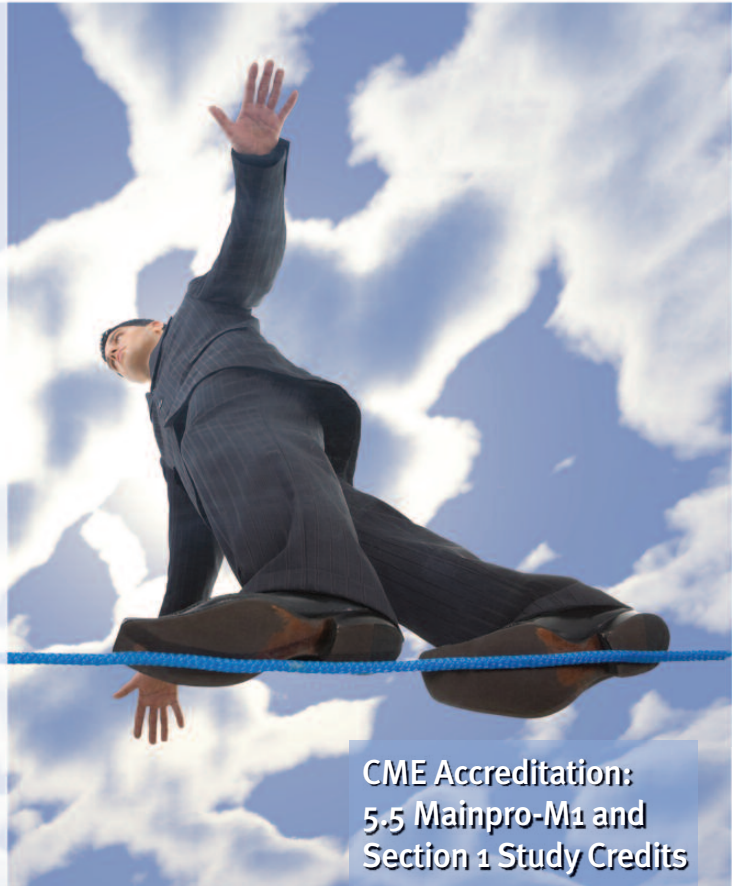

SFU at Harbour Centre,
515 West Hastings St., Vancouver BC

Some of the risky situations that can cause moral distress for health care providers:

- Eating at-risks
- Leaving the hospital against
medical advice
- Consuming addictive substances and
- Refusing long-term
care placement

In this interactive conference
we will discuss:

- Should health care providers “respect” patients’ and residents’ decisions to engage in risky behaviours?
- In the age of patient autonomy, should professionals advance patients’ clinical interests against their wishes?
- What are the individual and social contributors to such “risky” behaviours?
- What are various barriers in promoting patient safety?

CME Accreditation:
5.5 Mainpro-M1 and
Section 1 Study Credits

Speakers and Panel Members

Chris Bernard, MDiv (PHC); A.J. Burak, MD (College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC); Lori d’Agincourt-Canning, PhD (BC Children’s and Women’s Health Centre); Shafik Dharamsi, PhD (UBC);
Martha Donnelly, MD (UBC); Anita Ho, PhD (PHC/UBC); Cheryl Jolliffe, MSW, RSW (PHC); Annemarie Kaan, MCN, RN (PHC);
Patricia Rodney, PhD, RN (UBC/PHC); Suja Srikameswaran, PhD, R. Psych (PHC/UBC); David Unger, MD (PHC/UBC);
Colleen Varcoe, PhD, RN (UBC); J. Galt Wilson, MD (College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC)

Fee is $100 and includes breakfast and lunch. Free for PHC staff/physicians.
Seating is limited.

To register, please contact June Monthatawil at 604-806-9952,
or email: jmonthatawil@providencehealth.bc.ca

The conference follows PHC’s 4-day ethics seminar, April 19 - 22, 2010

www.providencehealthcare.org/ethics_services/

How you want to be treated.