

Interior Traces

Michael is in prison for murder, and thinks a brain scan will help him 'prove' his innocence... But is the science ready? And is Michael treated differently because he's been diagnosed as a psychopath?

Interior Traces is a multimedia drama exploring how different ways of seeing the brain might change how we see ourselves. Come and find out what happens to Michael at this inaugural Café Neuroéthique event, and join in a discussion about the ethics of his story with psychiatrists and one of the writers of the play.

Monday 21st June 2010, 6:30 p.m.

Café Neuroéthique

The Railway Club, 579 Dunsmuir Street, Vancouver, BC V6B 1Y4
Free entrance, contact lewhiteley@gmail.com for further info

www.interiortraces.com

NATIONAL CORE FOR NEUROETHICS
LA NEUROÉTHIQUE

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

